SIGNIFICANT AND INTERESTING CASES

The following represent some of the cases I have been or am currently involved in which raise significant and interesting issues to a labour, employment, rights and equity practice.

Essar Steel Algoma Inc. (2016)

Court-Appointed Representative to Retirees participating in three Defined Benefit Pension Plans, in Companies Creditors Arrangement Act proceedings. Case ongoing.

OPSEU v. Ontario (Post-Retirement Benefits "PRBs") (2016)

Counsel to Union in grievance challenge to unilateral amendment of PRB arrangement by employer. Case successfully settled, November 2016.

Trinity Western University Law School Challenges (2016)

Co-counsel to the Canadian Bar Association in Nova Scotia and Ontario appellate proceedings opposing the proposed certification of TWU's law school on the basis that TWU's covenant on student and faculty behavior discriminates against LGBT persons. Cases pending.

Challenge to Identity Documents Requirements for Transgendered Persons (2016)

Counsel to Applicant before Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario with respect to the requirement that Provincial identity documents only provide for binary sex designation (i.e. male or female) and therefore discriminate against those persons whose gender identity does not fall into those categories. Challenge brought in respect of Driver's License (Ministry of Transportation) and OHIP Card (Ministry of Health and Long Term Care). Case is pending; parallel proceeding regarding Birth Certificate pending before Manitoba Human Rights Commission.

Appeals and Challenges to Denial of Funding for Sex Reassignment Surgery (2016)

Multiple proceedings before the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario and the Health Services Appeal and Review Board of Ontario. These challenges on human rights grounds contest the failure to provide Government funding to applicants solely on basis that their approval for surgery was provided by a health professional other than the singular and backlogged health service designated in the Provincial health insurance regulations.

Charter Challenge to Bill 115 (2015)

Counsel to Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation in its current Charter challenge to Bill 115. Case argued December 2015; successful decision released April 2016.

Jointly Sponsored Pension Plan Negotiations with Ontario Government (2012-13)

Counsel to major public sector union group regarding four major public sector pension plans resulting in successful settlements of issues.

XY v Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Ontario (2012)

Counsel to the applicant who is a transgender person in a case before the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario challenging as discriminatory the provisions of the Vital Statistics Act which require transsexual surgery and proof of same before the sex designation on the applicant's birth certificate will be changed. We were successful in this matter, resulting in a change as requested to the Registrar General's practice of requiring surgery for birth certificate changes.

Occupy Toronto (2011)

Counsel to five members of the Occupy movement in their attempt to assert their Charter Rights to freedom of assembly, association and expression against the City of Toronto's notice evicting them from St. James Park.

OSSTF v. York District School Board (Faith Day Grievance) (2008)

Arbitration case in which the issues of religious freedom and religious holiday observance were adjudicated in respect to the denial of certain religious holidays to certain bargaining unit members. Case confirmed right of employees to their specific religious holidays based on language of collective agreement and jurisprudence.

Honda v. Keays (2008)

Counsel to intervenor LEAF (Women's Legal Education and Action Fund) in the Supreme Court of Canada on this appeal and cross appeal of the landmark Keays decision in which the trial judge awarded the plaintiff Keays punitive damages in the amount of $500,000 in respect of the violation of his human rights as a person with a disability.

CAW and 407/ETR (2007)

Arbitration case in which the issues of religious freedom and security measures were adjudicated in respect of three terminated employees who had refused to participate in new biometric security technology on religious grounds. Decision affirmed the right of the employees to religious freedom.

OPSEU v. The Crown in Right of Ontario (multi-year proceeding)

Class action on behalf of a proposed class of employees of Community Care Access Centres whose pension rights have been negatively affected by reorganization of their employers by the Province. This case was successfully settled.

Stonehouse et al v. Crown in Right of Ontario (2007)

Represented three complainants in the first Ontario Human Rights Tribunal case involving transsexual persons. This case challenged the delisting of sex reassignment surgery as an OHIP (Ontario Health Insurance Plan) covered service. A decision has been rendered in which three of the four complainants were awarded coverage for the surgery and other damages. Subsequently, the Province of Ontario relisted these services as covered by OHIP.

Air Canada CCAA Proceedings (2004)

Acted as court appointed counsel to Union Retirees of Air Canada in respect of their pension and benefits rights, in this interesting and historic proceeding under the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act. Work included historic resolution of pension and benefits issues, resulting in key pension regulatory arrangement which both preserved existing pensions for retirees and afforded a reasonable opportunity for company to emerge, as it now has, from protection.

Chamberlain et al v. Surrey School Board (2002)

Counsel to the intervener "Families in Partnership" with respect to this case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada in June 2002. At issue was the use of the books depicting same sex parents in the K-1 Grade levels. Decision determined that a school board could not ban such books on the grounds that they might offend some families.

Brillinger et al v. Brockie et al (2001)

Counsel to the intervener "Equality Coalition" with respect to this case heard by the Ontario Divisional Court in December 2001. At issue in this case was whether or not a printer could deny services which are regularly available to the public, to a particular customer because either he is gay or he is affiliated with a group which supports the gay community (The Lesbian and Gay Archives). The lower tribunal's decision was affirmed and the court confirmed that such services could not be denied in this manner.

Trinity Western University Case (First TWU case – 2001)

Counsel to the intervener Ontario Secondary Teachers' Federation with respect to this case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada. At issue was whether the BC College of Teachers must certify Trinity Western University as a teachers' college having regard to its anti-gay and lesbian policies, curriculum and stated objectives. Decision continued the development of the interaction of the law on discrimination and freedom of religion/conscience.

OSSTF Bill 160 Case (1999)

Counsel to the Ontario Secondary Teachers' Federation with respect to one aspect of this challenge to the education law, the disqualification of spouses of school board employees from running for school board trustee. Successful conclusion to the case before the Ontario Court of Appeal, which held that this was impermissible discrimination under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Rosenberg Case (1998)

Co-counsel for Foundation for Equal Families, intervener in Rosenberg case, dealing with discrimination against same sex partners in pension regulation under the Income Tax Act, before the Ontario Court of Appeal. Decision affirming right to be free from discrimination, April 23, 1998, Federal Government did not appeal further.

M v H (1998)

Director, Intervener Foundation for Equal Families in M v H case, dealing with discrimination against same sex partners in family law, before the Supreme Court of Canada, March 1998 resulting in landmark equality rights decision for gay and lesbian community.

Vriend Case (1998)

Advising representative of Foundation for Equal Families in Vriend case, dealing with failure to include sexual orientation in Alberta human rights legislation, decision affirming obligation to include ground in law rendered in April 1998 by Supreme Court of Canada.

Jane Doe Case (1998)

One of initial team of counsel for plaintiff. Successfully asserted plaintiff's right to claim against the police for putting her at risk of attack by rapist. This case represents a constitutional challenge to the Metropolitan Toronto Police Forces practices in investigation of serial sexual assault cases. Case led to ground breaking decision in 1998 regarding police powers and Charter rights to equality.

Challenge to the Opposite Sex Spousal Provisions of the Municipal Act (1996)

Won case before an Ontario Human Rights Board of Inquiry. This case is a human rights and constitutional challenge to the provisions of the Municipal Act which require that employment benefits can only be provided to the opposite sex spouses of municipal employees. Province withdrew appeal of this decision and it stands.

ONA v. Northwestern General Hospital (1996)

Assisted in settlement of this major human rights race case through successful arbitration of key grievances involving termination of two of complainants from their employ with the hospital.

Egan and Nesbit v. Canada (1995)

Intervener's counsel providing pro bono work on behalf of the Metropolitan Community Church of Toronto, which serves the lesbian and gay community. This is a constitutional challenge in the Supreme Court of Canada to the opposite sex definition of spouse contained in the Federal Old Age Security Act. Successful intervention application in spring 1994. Co-counsel with Charles Campbell, of Iler, Campbell, Toronto.

Gary Thornton Case (1992)

After several days of hearing, achieved settlement of one of the first Ontario human rights cases dealing with a person with A.I.D.S. who was unlawfully fired. This settlement was embodied in an Order of the Board of Inquiry, and has been praised as offering guidance to all Ontario employers in the areas of disability and employment.

Hamilton Gay Pride Case (1991)

Won first case before a Human Rights Board of Inquiry to challenge a Mayor's refusal to proclaim Lesbian and Gay Pride Week in 1991.

ONA v. Regional Municipality of Haldimand-Norfolk (1991)

Successful argument for an expansive interpretation of employer under the Pay Equity Act. Participated in the drafting of legal arguments and factum.

Federal Omnibus Challenge (1990's)

Director for the litigant Foundation for Equal Families, in this case which challenged over 50 federal statutes for their discrimination against same sex common law partners. The Federal Government introduced Bill C-23 to address this issue and the litigation was resolved by passage of the Bill.
